

The 28th Ardakan Theater Festival
FOR CHILDREN AND YOUNG ADULTS
CROWNS THE WINNERS

Kazem Nazari:
Theater presents the whole life on stage

Iran Theater- Kazem Nazari, Director General of Dramatic Arts center of Iran , gave a message for Ardakan Theater Festival for Children and Young Adults.

According to the public relations report of the Dramatic Arts Center, the message of the Director General of Dramatic Arts states that: If we consider the years and every day and moment of childhood and adolescence as the sweetest and most lasting, the most defining period of the honorable life of every human being; The spark of hope that the “28th International Festival of Theater for Children and Adolescents” will create a different enthusiasm and freshness in the hearts of all those who are interested in the pride of our Islamic country and in the minds of those who are familiar with the drama art in the subtle expression of educational points and intellectual components that make up the personality of Iranian children and adolescents. Because theater is a show of the whole life on stage. Are our children and teenagers more prone to “pure life practice” and more deserving of “growing awareness and self-confidence” in order to live a more valuable life?

Kazem Nazari emphasized: Of course, the importance of this issue brings with it a serious mission. It is that the production and performance of plays for the audience of children and teenagers requires a more specific and delicate attention to the nature of the play and the message of what is presented to them in theater. Therefore, the current trends in the world of children and adolescents should be seriously identified by the activists of this field with committed knowledge and compassion, and then the creation of an artistic work should be considered much more professional and profound in the theater. The 28th International Children’s and Adolescent Theater Festival with the motto “Theatre, the Pure Practice of Life” is now underway in Ardakan city.

Hamidreza Naeimi:
Kurdish theater is like a strong tree

Iran Theater-Hamidreza Naeimi, the jury of the 18th Saqqez Kurdish Theater Festival, compared the Kurdish theater as a strong tree that is rooted in the soil of this border and is considered it as part of the identity and of this city, he believed that the continuation of this festival is important for artists.

The 18th Kurdish Theater Festival of Saqqez is underway from February 18 -22 with the plan of creating social enthusiasm and celebration of famous artists.

Hamidreza Naeimi is an Iranian theater actor and director who has also played roles in cinema and television in recent years. Naeimi recently directed Schmitt's "Frederick" at City Theater of Tehran.

Hamidreza Naeimi, the jury of the 18th Kurdish Theater Festival, considered the feature of this festival to include all the Kurdish cities with all the regional customs and create a place for the exchange of culture of the Kurdish regions.

He went on to say: "It is very important for all of us as artists and the festival becomes more international every year." Naeimi added: "The budgets allocated to this important festival should be for the dignity of the Kurdish art, because whether you want it or not, this festival is the cradle of Kurdish theater, and it doesn't matter what ethnicity or minority it is." Hamidreza Naeimi also said: "We all have a duty to work for the progress of this festival like a big family. I personally thank all those who work hard for the organization and sustainability of this festival, despite all the difficulties and hardships, and I wish for the stability of the Kurdish Theater Festival. "12 theater groups are present in the Festival, which includes 8 local troupes and 4 foreign troupes from the Kurdistan region of Iraq.

Kazem Nazari:
Parliamentarians should allocate funds for theater

Iran Theater- Kazem Nazari, Director General of Dramatic Arts Center of Iran, pointed to the theater transformation document and said that we have the elections of the Islamic Council and the people's representatives in the parliament should allocate funds for the development of culture and theater. All organizations should help to increase the budget in the theater.

Nazari said that we should invest in the field of theater and have a plan for the economy of theater and pay attention to veteran and well-known theater artists: "I used to stage a show with 200 million tomans, but now we have to spend a billion tomans to perform a show. Now salary of stage actor is 200 million tomans .Now wages are high and theater production has become very difficult."

He continued: "We have good professional groups in Tehran and other cities. When a show sells 6 billion Tomans in Tabriz, it means that people love theater. Shows have been staged in Tehran and other cities that have sold well. There were shows in the City Theater that have sold three to four billion Tomans. The theater has its own business, and the reception offered the high quality of the shows."

In memory of an artist who worked hard for children theater

Iran Theater- The director general of dramatic arts, Kazem Nazari and a group of artists attended the opening ceremony of the show “Ketabkhorha/ bookworms” and commemorated the memory of Karim Akbari Mubarake, and spoke of the late artist’s efforts for children and youth theater.

The memorial ceremony of Karim Akbari and the opening of “Ketabkhorha/ bookworms” show was held with the presence of Kazem Nazari, the General Director of Dramtic Arts Center of Iran, and a group of children’s and youth theater artists and the artist’s family on the evening of Friday, the February 16, at the Honar Hall.

The General Director of Dramatic Arts Center of Iran, Kazem Nazari told the children present at the event: “Dear children, the professor whose photo you see worked very hard for the children’s theater. He spent time for the groups that worked in the theater to prepare high-quality work for you. Your parents have seen his good performance in the series Imam Ali (Davood Mir-Bagheri)”.

Amin Akbari Nasab, the director of the Honar hall, said in this ceremony: “Today, in memory of the teacher Karim Akbari, we will open the show Bookworms and I hope that it will be a popular show because of him.”

He described this artist as a treasure for Iran’s artistic community: “we keep the memory of him always alive. Akbari Mubarake was a member of the Honar hall council for many years and every time His name is remembered with his good deeds. I believe that his spirit is always present in this hall.”

The manager of the Honar hall said: “We are going to open the shows with the memory of the artists who are still alive.”

Then He described a memory of the production team of “Bookworms” which was supported by the late Karim Akbari Mubarake: “The theater troupe was preparing this work for the first time in the third edition of the City Theater Festival. At that time, the selection committee was Mrs. Maryam Kazemi and Mr. Nasser Avijeh and Mr. Karim Akbari Mubarake. It is said that these three stand-up artists encourage the group and a special encouragement is created for the group to follow the work. This opening is a kind of appreciation for these three artists .”

Nasser Avijeh spoke about his Colleague: “Today we are going to remember an artist who was a great man who went to the heaven. At the City Festival, we encouraged this show and all three members of the selection committee stood and applauded for them. The work was performed and now it is going to be restaged.”

Then, Majid Qanad said about his long-time collaboration with Karim Akbari Mubarake: “He and I made a theater for television in 1983 in which children acted. Now one of those children is a doctor in Tehran City Council, one is a choreographer in theater and... Karim loved children. He worked very well with them. His look was full of love.”

Kazem Nazari:
The Iranian National Theater Foundation is established

Iran Theater-The Director General of Dramatic Arts announced the launch of the National Theater Foundation of Iran in the Theater Development Document, which will be reviewed by the Supreme Council of Arts for approval next week.

Director General of Dramatic Arts Center of Iran, Kazem Nazari visited Iran Media Exhibition on the second day and he gave explanations about the state of formation of the National Theater Foundation of Iran.

He, who was present at the booth of Mehr news agency, said: “The plan for setting up the National Theater Foundation will be presented at the meeting of the General Council of Arts at the same time as the theater development document, and if approved, this foundation will be located in the Sangelaj Theater Complex.”

Nazari said that the General Department of Performing Arts is too small for Iran’s theater: “More than anything in the country, we need a theater organization. The formation of this organization requires a mutual understanding between the Ministry of Culture and Islamic Guidance and several other institutions, Therefore We have predicted the plan of the theater organization in the country’s theater development document.”

Writer and stage director, Esmael Rahimi – Soroush on his new play Bookworms , Honesty and Respect

Iran Theater- Esmael Rahimi- Soroush, the writer and director of the show “Bookworms” says that his life path has changed by watching the children show, he considers having honesty and respect in producing work for children as conditions for success in this field.

The children’s show “Bookworms” written and directed by Esmael Rahimi -Soroush is one of children play, which is running from February 14 to March 15 at 17:30p.m at Honar Hall.

Rahimi- Soroush talked about this show: “It is about the conflict between a spider and a cockroach and termites that live in a library.”

He continued: “I was looking for a play for the subject of “Pedagogy and Children’s Theater” while I was writing my acting thesis in the undergraduate course. I read many plays and this idea has been forming in my mind since then. This idea was in my mind until years later, when I wrote it in 2014 and won the best play award at Hamadan International Children and Youth Theater Festival.”

Referring to the age group of the audience of this show, this artist added: “Children are the audience of this show, and in the songs, content and other elements of the scene, I considered children as my audiences.”

He emphasized: “The Theater must provide the conditions for the future of children. It is very important that children can experience different emotions in a safe environment with their families so that they can prepare for the future.”

This artist explained about the set and costume design: “We used huge decorations in the set design. We only have two suitable halls for this type of stage design; Therefore, many artists are using minimal decors with less fantasy elements. This is an issue that children theater officials should definitely think about.”

Luigi Pirandello's "The Jar" was performed at the residence of the Italian ambassador

Iran Theater-Italy's ambassador to Tehran considers The play "Jar" written by Luigi Pirandello and directed by Majid Zarezaheh is an innovative interpretation in Persian language.

The play "Jar" written by Luigi Pirandello with the design and dramaturgy of Majid Zarezaheh was performed at the residence of the Italian ambassador, Giuseppe Perrone.

"The Jar" is a wild political comedy about a tyrannical feudal lord, Don Lollo, who orders a gigantic human-size clay pot to hold his estate's great olive harvest. When the jar breaks, a mystical potter with a mysterious glue comes to fix it—and accidentally entombs himself within it.

It's featuring Mohammad Ali Mahboubi, Majid Zarezaheh, Mohammad Hadi Meshki, Sasan Dezvarii, Amir Abbas Saleh, Hossein Jafarpour, Aida Berenji, Maryam Rezaei, Amir Ali Zamannejad, Omid Shiri, Elina Hatami, Mohammad Reza Haji Mohammadi and Amir Mehdi Alizadeh.

Luigi Pirandello was an Italian dramatist, novelist, poet, and short story writer whose greatest contributions were his plays. He was awarded the 1934 Nobel Prize in Literature "for his bold and ingenious revival of dramatic and scenic art" Pirandello's works include novels, hundreds of short stories, and about 40 plays, some of which are written in Sicilian. Pirandello's tragic farces are often seen as forerunners of the Theatre of the Absurd.

Giuseppe Perrone, the Italian ambassador in Tehran, wrote on the embassy's website: "A new interpretation of "Jar" by Luigi Pirandello, which expresses the stunning modernism of the Sicilian writer, was staged."

He also congratulated the cast for their admirable performance and their continued commitment to promoting the relations between Iran and Italy.

Ali Nassirian's biography book is unveiled

Iran Theater- The commemoration ceremony of Ali Nassirian and the unveiling of the book "Looking at the life and works of Ali Nassirian" will be held at Mellat Gallery Cinema.

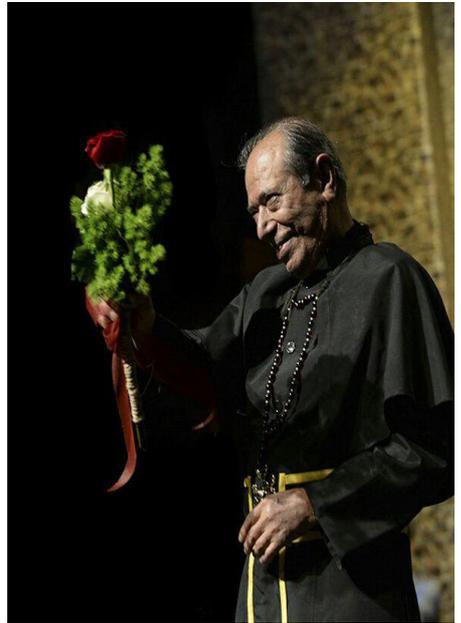

Ali Nassirian is an Iranian actor. He has received various accolades, including two Crystal Simorghs, a Hafez Award, an Iran's Film Critics and Writers Association Award and a Sepas Award.

The book "Looking at the life and works of Ali Nassirian" written by Negar Hosseini and published by Farhang Moaser publishing house in 348 pages. The personal and artistic life of Nassirian is narrated in this book and the artistic events of the 40s to 50s are reviewed.

In a part of book, it's written: Many people tell me to come and share your experiences in acting and theater. So what should I share? Should I come and tell the new generation that during high school, for theater rehearsals, when they planted trees in the corner of the city park, and it didn't even have walls or fences, we used to go and rehearse in a corner? The new generation with today's standards says, Well, you were crazy! I should say that there was no one, we didn't have a place, there was no workshop, no place, no theater office, no dramatic arts center, no Rudaki Hall, no Sangelaj Theater, nothing, nowhere and we practiced and worked in these conditions."

The ceremony will take place with artists and Ali Nassirian Thursday, March 7, 2024 at Mellat Cinema Complex.
