World Theatre Day

New Short Version of the Message for World Theatre Day 2020 by Shahid NADEEM, Pakistan

World Theatre Day is approaching. Over the ITI Newsletter, the General Secretariat already sent out the message of World Theatre Day Message 2020, written by the Pakistani Playwright Shahid NADEEM.

Many Centres asked for a shorter version that is why we asked Shahid NADEEM to create a brief version that is easier to be read in front of an audience and also easier to be translated and published.

The message author agreed to do it and that is why we are able to send you this version as of today.

Based on the experience so far, we suggest to you to use the short version as World Theatre Day 2020 message, translate it, send us the translation and use it for your celebration of World Theatre Day. If you decide to stick to the long version, please feel free to do so.

If there are any questions, don't hesitate to write to us at wtd@iti-worldwide.org

With very best regards

Tobias BIANCONE
Director General ITI

Theatre as a Shrine

At the end of a performance of Ajoka Theatre's (1) play on Sufi Poet Bulleh Shah (2), an old man, accompanied by a young boy, came to the actor playing the role of the great Sufi (3), "My grandson is unwell, would you please blow a blessing upon him." The actor was taken aback and said, "I am not Bulleh Shah, I am just an actor playing this role." The old man said, "Son, you are not an actor, you are a reincarnation of Bulleh Shah, his Avatar (4)". Suddenly a whole new concept of theatre dawned upon us, where the actor becomes the reincarnation of the character, he/she is portraying. Exploring stories such as that of Bulleh Shah, and there are so many in all cultures, can become a bridge between us, the theatre-makers and an unacquainted but enthusiastic audience. While performing on stage, we sometimes get carried away by our philosophy of theatre, our role as harbingers of social change and leave a large section of the masses behind. In our engagement with the challenges of the present, we deprive ourselves of the possibilities of a deeply moving spiritual experience that theatre can provide. In today's world where bigotry, hate, and violence is on the rise, our planet is plunging deeper and deeper into a climatic catastrophe, we need to replenish our spiritual strength. We need to fight apathy, lethargy, pessimism, greed, and disregard for the world we live in, the planet we live on. Theatre has a role, a noble role, in energizing and mobilizing humanity to lift itself from its descent into the abyss. It can uplift the stage, the performance space, into something sacred. In South Asia, the artists touch with reverence the floor of the stage before stepping onto it, an ancient tradition when the spiritual and the cultural were intertwined. It is time to regain that symbiotic relationship between the artist and the audience, the past and the future. Theatre-making can be a sacred act and the actors indeed can become the avatars of the roles they play. Theatre has the potential of becoming a shrine and the shrine a performance space.
