

Uganda Centre of ITI New President and Office Launch of the Uganda Centre of ITI

The Uganda Centre of the ITI proudly announces a major milestone in its development: the official appointment of Ms. Aganza Kisaka as the new President of ITI Uganda, effective 27 March 2025.

The occasion coincided with the celebration of World Theatre Day and the launch of the Centre's new office at the Uganda National Cultural Center (UNCC), home to the National Theatre. The event marked a triple milestone—renewed leadership, infrastructural growth, and strengthened global artistic solidarity—firmly establishing ITI Uganda at the heart of the country's cultural landscape.

The launch was attended by notable figures including Mr. Francis Peter Ojede, Executive Director of UNCC and UNESCO Cultural Forum Board Member, and Dr. Jessica Atwooki Kaahwa, President of ITI Worldwide. Their presence underscored the Centre's commitment to advancing theatre in alignment with UNESCO's goals and the global performing arts community.

Dr. Kaahwa's participation highlighted the powerful synergy between international leadership and local cultural engagement, emphasizing the importance of inclusion, innovation, and theatre as a vehicle for meaningful impact.
